Tax relief tops governor's list of priorities

Gov. Dave Heineman delivers his State of the State address in the George W. Norris Legislative Chamber Jan. 12.

Saying tax relief for middle-class Nebraskans should be the state's top priority, Gov. Dave Heineman delivered his annual State of the State address to lawmakers Jan. 12.

The governor began by thanking several senators who are beginning their last session due to term limits, including Speaker Mike Flood of Norfolk.

"Individually and as a group, you've done an outstanding job and Nebraskans appreciate your service," Heineman said. "I'm proud of the Legislature and what we've accomplished together."

The governor praised past efforts to put Nebraska in a strong financial position and make the state economically competitive. Heineman cited the Nebraska Advantage program and other tax reforms as important incentives to businesses and families to locate in Nebraska.

"Working with our citizens, we have developed a bold, innovative and strategic vision to grow our economy and to strengthen our education system," he said.

As a result, Heineman said, Nebraska's net tax receipts grew by $349 million in 2011. Lawmakers should use that revenue to provide tax relief to Nebraskans, he said.

The governor said he would propose a major tax relief initiative this session. Among the provisions included in the package are reductions in the state's corporate and individual income taxes and elimination of the inheritance tax.

"Our hard-working, middle class taxpayers need more discretionary income to take care of their families and to provide their kids with a good education," Heineman said.

Among future challenges outlined by the governor was ongoing reform of the state's child welfare system. Heineman said senators and other stakeholders must work together to develop a more collaborative and coordinated approach to serving the state's vulnerable children and families.

“Together, we need to bring stability to Nebraska’s child welfare system,” he said. “The focus should be on the future and on measurable results.”

Heineman also said the state should move forward with the planning and design of a state health insurance exchange in spite of uncertainty over the future of federal health care reform.

“I want to assure you and our citizens that Nebraska will not default to the federal government regarding a health insurance exchange,” he said.

Finally, the governor proposed merging the state Department of Labor into the Department of Economic Development. The merger would provide a more coordinated effort at job creation and worker training and retention, he said.

Heineman said Nebraska is in an excellent economic position relative to other states and should continue to build on past successes.

“This is about our future,” he said. “Together we can make it happen.” ■

Urban Affairs

Bill would require MUD district elections

Metropolitan utilities districts (MUD) board members would be chosen by district elections under a bill given first-round approval Jan. 12.

Omaha Sen. Brenda Council said she introduced LB190 in the hope of making MUD board membership more reflective of the citizens it serves.

Sen. Brenda Council

Currently, members are elected at large.

Most political subdivisions are elected by district, Council said, so that members reflect the geographic, economic and political perspectives of district voters.

In its 100-year history, the MUD board has had only one African American member, she said, and that member was appointed rather than elected. As a result, Council said, citizens in North Omaha feel disconnected from the board.

“The residents of some portions of that district don’t view themselves as having a representative on that board,” she said.

As introduced, the bill also would have applied to Nebraska public power districts serving cities of the metropolitan class. An Urban Affairs Committee amendment, adopted 31-0, removed that provision.

The amendment also removed a provision authorizing one at-large member of the board and instead would provide for seven election districts.

Council offered an amendment, adopted 32-0, which would stagger board member elections beginning in 2012. After 2016, all members would be elected to six-year terms.

Council said the amendment would provide continuity for the board by not requiring all members to stand for election immediately.

Senators advanced the bill to select file on a 31-0 vote.

Judiciary

Bill would clarify DNA collection requirements

Senators gave first-round approval Jan. 11 to a bill that would change provisions relating to the collection of DNA samples from individuals convicted of a felony or other specified offense.

Bellevue Sen. Abbie Cornett, sponsor of LB66, said the measure was introduced to clarify implementation of a bill passed in 2010 requiring DNA samples to be collected from individuals placed on probation.

Sen. Abbie Cornett

As introduced, the bill specifies that probation officers would be responsible for taking DNA samples from convicted felons who are placed on probation and would not enter into a prison, jail, detention facility or other institution.

An amendment to a pending Judiciary Committee amendment was offered by Cornett and adopted 34-0.

As amended, the bill specifies that in counties without a city of the metropolitan class, an individual not placed on probation who receives a fine or a penalty of time served would have a DNA sample collected by the county sheriff.

In addition, a county jail, detention facility or other institution that collects the sample would not be held financially responsible for the cost of the DNA sample kit if the court waives the cost of taking a DNA sample for any reason.

The amendment also would provide a time frame for returning DNA samples to the Nebraska State Patrol for processing.

Cornett said the amended bill would clarify responsibility for collecting samples and assist efforts to include all convicted felons in the state’s DNA sample bank.

Following adoption of the committee amendment on a 35-0 vote, senators advanced LB66 to select file 34-0. ■

Sen. Lambert energized by people, public service

As a young boy growing up on a small farm east of Murray, Sen. R. Paul Lambert developed an appreciation for hard work and an affinity for serving others.

“I saw the respect that everyone gave my mother as a teacher,” he said, adding that his mother taught elementary school for 42 years.

And his father farmed, worked in a factory and, in his later years, helped establish the Cass County Rural Water District 1. He subsequently served on its board of directors.

“I guess I learned a little from him about how rewarding it can be to help other people,” Lambert said.

“At that time, I did not appreciate the work ethic that was instilled in me,” he said. “If I could say it today, I would tell [my parents] thank you. There is something to be said for the value of good, hard work.”

Lambert is a graduate of Nehawka High School and attended Wayne State College and the University of Omaha.

Lambert’s work experience spans a variety of professions, including broker, sales, construction, the iron industry and numerous tire companies.

In 1981, he moved to Plattsmouth, where he served on the city council. In 1999, the council elected him president. When the mayor became terminally ill, he became Plattsmouth’s mayor and was re-elected to the office twice.

During that time, Lambert discovered that he enjoys working with others toward a goal of public service.

Sen. R. Paul Lambert

Serving in the Legislature seemed like a natural progression from there.

He was appointed Oct. 7 by Gov. Dave Heineman to represent legislative district 2.

“When I heard [Sen. Dave Pankonin] was going to resign, I thought this would be the next step to take,” he said. “My sincere desire is to leave [my] district and this state better than I found it.”

The experience he gained working in city government will help him serve that purpose, he said.

“We had some of the same issues at the city level that we do at the state level,” he said. “There are a lot of parallels, just on a different scale.”

He married his wife, Patty Long, in 1992 and has one step-daughter, Lisa, and four grandchildren. ■
